Editorial

1949 seems a very distant memory to many of us, and an unknown time to many more. Life might not have been too bad for those living in rural areas like ours here, but generally things were still very bleak after the hardships of war. And yet all through that time, and before, strenuous efforts were being made to prepare the way for a better life.

A 'better life' in one respect, for many people living in urban areas, meant access to enjoy an open countryside, huge areas of which were out of bounds, and mapped details of rights of way were extremely limited. This country was many years behind others (notably USA, Australia etc.) in creating any National Parks or Areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty, so the 1949 act of Parliament "National Parks and Access to the Countryside Act", the actual 60th anniversary of which is in a few weeks' time, was very significant.

"What if" questions are almost impossible to deal with; but what if this, and ensuing legislation to conserve our best landscapes had never come about? The competing demands of open air recreation, country sports, farming for food or for green fuel, development for industry, motorways, housing, energy, protection of archaeological sites or wildlife, are always going to be a problem especially in this relatively crowded country, so the special areas need special care. It's just unfortunate that the best landscapes are on top of the most useful materials needed for industry or construction, for example pure calcium carbonate (limestone) or granite or minerals. The most scenic, often the windiest or wettest places, have pressure on them for energy generation. The narrowest and twistiest rural roads are the worst to deal with increased visitor traffic.

Also, whereas in the past people flocked to the newly growing towns and cities for work and money, now the pressure is in the opposite direction.

Maybe we, who live here, have special difficulties. It is easy to overlook how important National Park areas are; perhaps you have to have lived in a city to fully appreciate them, and maybe city-dwellers have to live here (rather than just visit) to see others' viewpoints. We need each other! We go to the big centres of population for our clubs, our football, our major shopping, our main entertainment, our airports and just think what it must be like living near, say, Old Trafford or the Metro Centre or the M1.

So 1949 needs celebrating; but we need great skill in ensuring that tourists, locals, authorities and governments alike don't destroy, overrun or over-manage the country's most precious natural areas.

Upper Dales Family History Group

The new season of meetings began with a talk by Mark Whyman of Richmond on "The Secret of Life - The story of northern spas", a tour of historic watering places from the Peak District to Teesdale and beyond, illustrated by photographs and anecdotes. From the Old Hall at Buxton, Mark moved on to Harrogate and the Stinking Spa, so named because of the sulphur in the water. As the town prospered and grew more wells were opened up for public use with rather more appealing names such as the Montpellier Baths and Royal Promenade Rooms.

Spas were scattered across Yorkshire, from Ripon to Scarborough, even in Redmire, although an attempt to develop facilities at Thirsk was unsuccessful. Moving further north there was St Cuthbert's well near Durham Cathedral, a spa at Shotley Bridge and one at Gainford in Teesdale among many others – even Hartlepool had its own spa. Coming full circle the story concluded with a Mr and Mrs Smedley who visited Ilkley to take the waters in the 1850s before opening Smedley's Hydro in Matlock, back in Derbyshire.

This month's meeting is on Wednesday, November 25th at 2.00pm in Middleham Key Centre when the speaker is Joyce Scobie on 'Cow Keepers', the fascinating story of the men and women who left the dales to provide milk to the growing industrial towns and cities.

Askrigg School News

On October 10th Askrigg Primary School had a soup and sweet lunch in Askrigg Village Hall. The lunch raised £318 for gardening club and forest schools.

The soups were all made by the children in class 2 using our own vegetables from the gardening club. Some of the children took a bag of apples from the school orchard to make puddings.

Class 1 made apple cakes with the fruit from the orchard.

Many thanks to everyone for helping, and especially to Mrs Bagnall for her stirring work in the sink. James Y6

Update on Natural Light Day

As you know on 10th September Askrigg School had a natural light day. On natural light day we saved 17.54kw. Since then Kath has had an electricity bill for school and 1kw costs 0.1252 pence. So for a day that would be saving £2.20 For a school week (5 days) that would save £11.00. For a school year (39 weeks) that would save £429.00.

Maybe you would like to have a natural light day at home now you know how much it saves!

Our next objective is to have a wear a woolly day, which was suggested by a former eco warrior. We've decided to do this on the Wednesday October 21st. The idea is to turn off the heating and everyone wears lots of layers to keep us warm.

Let's see how much heating oil we can save. Noah eco warrior

CRUCIAL CREW

On Wednesday 30th September Year 5 and 6 took a bus journey to R.A.F Leeming to learn about safety. We had 11 different scenarios. In most of the scenarios we had to ring the police, fire brigade or ambulance then tell them what had happened. The activities included farms, sea, fire, electricity, road safety, building safety, garden safety, bogus original, and a vandalism play. I think that the farm video was the best because it showed us about playing on a farm and it made me definitely not want to play on a farm.

Warhammer Club @ Askrigg School

On Friday after school there is going to be Warhammer Club. It is a great strategy game and it is popular all over the world and in our school.

Ethan runs the club with the help of the other helpers Finn, James A and Simon. If your child collects Warhammer and has Warhammer paints he or she may bring them and have a great time. Ethan Y6

Pet Assembly

On Wednesday morning we had a pet assembly. We had all sorts of pets - cats, dogs, chickens and we all had a great time. Our Headteacher, Mrs. Woods, brought her horse which was the biggest pet and James brought his pet spider Sid which was the smallest pet there. Ben brought his wooden snake which we thought would live the longest! We sang a few songs and we all got our picture taken with our pets.

Letter

Louise Raw's piece in the October issue reminded me forcibly of our arrival in Wensleydale in the spring of 1968.

First up the stairs of Redvers Hopper's top flat in Winnville, Askrigg, while we were still unpacking, was Rev Malcolm Stonestreet, then Vicar of Askrigg and now living in contented retirement up here in Borrowdale.

Hot on his heels though was the late Jimmy Gregson, secretary, groundsman and much else of Hawes cricket club. There was to be no way that I could drift down dale to play my cricket at Middleham. What a lot cricket in the Upper Dale owes to Jimmy Gregson.

Second Call for Housing Sites

Hawes/Gayle, Reeth, Sedbergh,
Grassington/Threshfield

In January the National Park Authority invited landowners to submit expressions of interest to develop land for housing. Whilst there was a good overall response, the range of suitable sites submitted in the four main service centres of Hawes/Gayle, Grassington/Threshfield, Sedbergh and Reeth, was rather limited.

These four centres have the widest range of services available in the national park to support new affordable and local needs housing. The Authority considers that there may be further sites to investigate and would like to hear again from landowners. It may be that you missed the opportunity in January so this is a second chance to submit a site for consideration.

The Authority expects 50% of each site to be developed by housing that is affordable to local households. This will be delivered through partnership with a housing association or some other mechanism that will secure its affordability in perpetuity. The remaining 50% will not have to be affordable, but will still be restricted to occupancy by households that need to live inside the National Park. The Authority does not anticipate permitting any new wholly unrestricted open market housing.

The Authority is looking for additional sites that are located within or on the edge of Hawes/Gayle, Grassington/Threshfield, Sedbergh, Reeth and which are large enough to accommodate at least 2 homes. Sites will also need to meet a number of other planning requirements such as impact on the surrounding landscape, safe highway access, and availability of essential services.

If you think you have a suitable site for consideration please go to the Authority's website for submission details www.yorkshiredales.org.uk

If you have already submitted a site please do not resubmit it. It will either already be under further investigation or may already have been dismissed. The Authority's website has a list of the sites that are currently going forward for further investigation.

Please note that submissions cannot be treated confidentially as the Authority will be inviting public comment on all sites received. Submitting a site will not constitute a formal commitment by a landowner to sell or release land.

West Burton School News

The new classrooms, offices, dining hall, toilets are all finished now and what a difference it has made to school life! An open day was held on the 15th October for all the local community and parents and we are pleased to report that during the day we had more than 100 people attend to be given a presentation on the building works and a guided tour of the new look school. Comments on the day were very positive and enthusiastic and visitors were asked to complete a brief questionnaire on the developments, more of which in future issues. The school is most grateful to everybody involved in the building of the first floor and the magnificent effort to raise funds in order to make it happen along with the most generous gifts received from local community members. There will be an official opening of the first floor on 8th January 2010 by a truly VIP guest – again, more of this in future issues.

Finishing touches to classroom 1

We were proud to once again have visitors from Parkinson Lane School in Halifax with us on 13th October when a full day of activities was undertaken. This included introductions in the new hall on arrival with a drink and a snack and a tour of the new building before lunch up Pen Hill and an opportunity for the children to take in the magnificent views. Following lunch, a tour of West Burton village including the Chapel, village hall, shop, farms and village green. Key stage 2 also had a trip out to Hackfall Woods near Masham during October, where they had a great day learning about all things arboreal including making Aboriginal story sticks.

Another Rail Station Becomes a Weather Station too.

Kirkby Stephen train station has joined Ribbleshead to become a weather station updating information on a wide range of weather indicators every 6 seconds by a state-of-the-art automatic system. It also provides a short-term weather forecast.

The weather station itself continuously monitors sunlight, rainfall, cloud base height, temperature, wind chill, wind speed, atmospheric pressure and humidity. As well as the present readings, daily, monthly and all-time records are displayed. Together with the summary weather forecast for the next 12 and 48 hours this information is displayed live online at mylocal-weather.org.uk/kirkbystephen.

Mark Rand, Chairman, of the Friends of the Settle to Carlisle Line, said "We've had such a positive response to the weather station at Ribbleshead station that we are delighted to set up one for Kirkby Stephen station too. It will be really useful for residents and visitors alike to have a truly local forecast."

New Start— and the End of an Era

By about the middle of November the new development for J.T. Atkinson (Littlefairs) on what was Aldersons garage on the Brunt Acres site in Hawes will be completed. Alterations to the building are done and the work on the yard/parking is nearly ready.

The opening hours will be as now; the store will carry all the same stock but there will be an increase in provision of larger landscape and gardening materials.

At the same time the store in the Cattle Market in Hawes will close. For Arthur Littlefair this is the end of a long association with Hawes although he is very happy with the way the transition to be part of J.T. Atkinson had progressed. The company has about eight stores stretching from Cocker mouth to Stockton, from their head office in Middlesbrough. Their store in Appleby has also just moved in a similar way.

At first Littlefairs only had the shop in Kirkby Stephen. “My mother’s side were from Chapel-le-Dale and came to Appersett” said Arthur, and in 1947 a shop opened in the Neukin in Hawes just on a Tuesday afternoon. “And we delivered on Thursdays.” He went on, “Tom Outhwaite at the Ropemakers had a key, so if you wanted something you could get in and book it down!”

It was in the early sixties when they decided to look for better premises and the old Aysgarth Rural District Council offices became available at auction; Tony Routh was involved with the necessary alterations and things then took off. At that time Colin Cooper and Kit Peacock were working and the store opened full time.

Arthur paid tribute to the good staff they have had over the years— and still have. He doesn’t yet know what to do with old premises; he expects to sell them, and there is a presumption that they should be for commercial purposes.

He, himself, free of management and the ringing phone is enjoying himself labouring on local building sites! A.S.W.

Police Report

The dark nights are back with us and so it appears is “silly season”. Why silly you may ask? Well this time of year usually sees more in the way of drunken idiots- and I make no apology for calling them that- mindlessly damaging things as they make their way back home from the pub. Under cover of darkness the “brave” souls attack inanimate objects that can’t retaliate and cause needless damage. Why this makes them feel good I have no idea. I can’t wait to hear their explanation in interview and then at court. There is no explanation for criminal damage. This weekend gone (16th and 17th October) a small building just off the Market Place in Hawes was damaged and also a fence on the footpath between The Hill Hawes and Gayle. Similar damage occurred in Askrigg on the 2nd when a gate was at the Vicarage was broken.

Farmers, please be aware that although we are not suffering the spate of quad-bike thefts that we were experiencing this time last year please do not be complacent as they are still on the thieves’ Christmas lists. Keep bikes locked away and do not leave keys in the ignition when out in the fields. Also metal prices are very high so “scrappies” are making the rounds – most are getting switched on to needing a waste licence – but just because they have documentation and may legitimately visit one place it does not stop them throwing on other items that they should not be taking troughs, feeders, etc - some of those I have seen on scrap wagons do not appear to have much wrong with them but as they are not marked they are untraceable. A trend in Colburn has been lots of cycles going missing from gardens.

An unusual crime occurred in Widdale – a border collie was stolen, not a young dog by any means but probably worth its weight in gold to the loser .

A reminder to motorists . As it is now darker for longer, lights are essential on vehicles. Please check your bulbs prior to setting off, once a week at the very minimum. Defective lighting is a major contributory factor in accidents and lights have to be maintained in good working order. Roads are now getting covered in leaves and muck of one sort or another so good tyres are also a must. If caught, a bald tyre (or one with less than 1.6mm tread) will cost you at least £60.00 with an additional three penalty points which need declaring on your insurance, bumping that up.

A reminder: it is now £60.00 minimum fixed penalty (substantially more if you go to court with the costs imposed) for not wearing a seatbelt. SO BELT UP. It may save your life as well as your wallet!. Too many of you are still driving around the dales without one.

Finally I still see people using hand held mobiles whilst driving, not normally when I’m in the vehicle with the big blue and yellow patches on it (as I have often been spotted), but the amount I see driving to and from work astounds me. No call is so important that you can’t stop for a couple of minutes; if you can’t then don’t answer the phone. Again it’s £60.00 AND THREE POINTS minimum if caught. If you are a professional driver – lorry, coach etc.— then it’s report for summons and the penalty is much steeper at court.

If you can assist with any of the crimes mentioned above – then give us a call or drop us a line. Thanks Andy Foster PC826

Raydale Project

November will see the start of the project's tree planting in Raydale. Once the young plants at the tree nursery have shed their leaves they can be lifted and planted out. Hundreds of trees will be planted in strategic places to achieve particular aims such as stabilising soil, absorbing soil nutrients, connecting surface water to underground systems, forming wildlife corridors to help species to move across the landscape and providing habitat. All these benefits and they are beautiful too, especially at this time of year in the run up to leaf fall. Trees certainly have a lot going for them and that is without mentioning the atmospheric carbon they absorb, permanently binding it into timber. It is not surprising that so many people volunteer to help plant trees and the project is very grateful to them.

Heavens Above

There's a great opportunity for spotting 'shooting stars' this month when the annual Leonid shower peaks on the 17th/18th November. With the Moon out of the way (and weather permitting) you might be able to see anything up to 100 of these swiftly moving meteors as the shower reaches its maximum.

Best time to look will be from just after 11.00pm on the night of November 17th through to early hours of the 18th. In the past the Leonids have put on some remarkable displays. In 1999 for instance, between 2000-3000 an hour were seen, and in 1966 American observers recorded rates of 40-50 per second.

For sheer spectacle, however, nothing can beat the Great Leonid Storm of 1833 when it's estimated well over 100,000 meteors per hour streaked across the sky.

One or two people have asked what the bright 'star' is, that they've glimpsed low down in the south over the summer months. In fact, it's not a star, but the planet Jupiter. It's by far the brightest object in this part of the sky and will be with us for a good while yet. Look for it more or less due south as the sky begins to darken.

The crescent Moon lies just to the north of the giant planet on the evening of November 23rd - a striking prospect. The Red Planet, Mars, rises in the east just before midnight at the start of November and in the ENE at around 10.00 pm by the month's end.

In the pre-dawn sky dazzling Venus can still be seen for a few more weeks low in the east; always a cheering sight on a damp autumnal morning. Have clear skies!

Disappearing Power Lines

Power lines in Kingsdale are soon to be replaced by underground cables.

60 wooden poles and their attached wires will be removed from the foot of Whernside, Yorkshire's highest peak, in the popular Three Peaks area.

The £5million scheme is a partnership between Electricity North West, United Utilities and the National Park Authority, with the cost being met by a special Ofgem fund set aside for landscape improvement.

The work is expected to be finished this autumn as part of a five year rolling programme. Lines have already been undergrounded at the Moorcock Inn. The Kingsdale scheme is much more ambitious and will be a welcome improvement to the landscape.

Flu Vaccination Programme

There are two flu vaccination programmes running this autumn. The traditional winter flu vaccination programme is well under way and many of you will already have had your jabs. If you are over 65 (or will be by 31st March next year) or younger than this but in an 'at risk' group you should book your winter flu jab without delay. At risk groups include those patients taking medicines that lower their immune response and those with the following conditions:-

Asthma; Diabetes; Chronic kidney, liver or lung disease (COPD) or Chronic heart disease. Reminder letters will be sent to all those not inoculated by the end of November.

Swine flu vaccination

Deliveries of this vaccine to hospitals were scheduled for the 21st October, with deliveries to general practices due from 26th October. At the time of writing I cannot tell you exactly when our delivery will arrive, but notices will be posted and reminders printed on prescription counterfoils once we have supplies. Initially each practice will receive 500 doses of swine flu vaccine.

If you normally receive a winter flu jab, you should also have a swine flu jab. However, due to supplies being limited initially, vaccinations will be prioritised in the following order:-

1. Patients under 65 in any of the above 'at risk' groups;
2. Pregnant women;
3. People living in the same household as someone taking immunosuppressant drugs;
4. Over 65s.

Dependent upon which vaccine is supplied, and the age of the patient, one or two doses (3 weeks apart) will be required. Groups 1 and 2 should book their swine flu jabs for early November.

Repeat prescriptions

During the last week of September, the government informed dispensing practices that from October 1st, their dispensing fees would be cut by 9%. This will cost your practice over £1000 per month, and comes on top of reductions in the level of reimbursements for the medicines we supply, to the extent that many medicines now cost the practice more than the government pays for them. For many months the doctors have subsidised this from their own pockets, but this cannot continue. Consequently, some medicines may have to be changed. Furthermore, the practice cannot continue to pay the staff overtime to process all repeat medication requests on the day of receipt.

Consequently, you must allow a MINIMUM of 48 hours for your medicines to be dispensed. This is the level of service provided by practices across the country. It is especially important to order your medicines in good time, given that many medicines are proving difficult to obtain at the moment owing to high volumes of pharmaceuticals being exported to EU countries because of the weakness of sterling against the euro.

Bainbridge School News

Building work continues!

Half term already! The extensive building work is still going on but we're getting ever nearer to completion (the children scrutinising the work carefully!) and once complete it will make a huge difference to school – an extended nursery room, new nursery toilets, a new main entrance and lobby area, a new office for Mrs Prudden our administrator, an office (the first!) for Mrs Hopwood, an improved staff room and wheelchair accessible toilets. Additionally, the children will benefit from a lovely outdoor classroom area in an enclosed courtyard. The end result will be stunning – we can't wait!

Themed Curriculum

Mines, caves and dormice – what do they all have in common? Holes of course! Holes being the school's themed curriculum this term. The juniors have been acting out what it would have been like to be miners in Victorian times (sometimes school seems a more attractive option than they might otherwise think!) and a visit to White Scar Cave is planned, followed by a visit to Freeholders' Wood to see how the reintroduction of the dormouse there is progressing. The themed curriculum has really ignited the children's imaginations.

National Park visit

The Infants, armed with a formidable "20 questions" and clipboards, walked up the road to the National Park Authority. A big thank you to everyone there who showed us around and took time to tell us about their job at the Park. We were fascinated to learn just how the Ranger knows if a red or grey squirrel has been visiting an area – hazelnuts and sellotape play a role!

Harvest Festival

By the time you read this the children will have taken part in their annual Harvest Festival Celebration. This year the children have decided to support the work of the Royal Agricultural Benevolent Institution.

PFA News

I hate to say it, but we are beginning the run up to Christmas festivities! The hugely popular Family Domino Drive evening will once again take place on Friday 20th November, starting at 6.00pm. Everyone is welcome, with tickets available from School (650336), Lynette Spence (650506) or Amanda Scarr (650539).

Cycling Awareness Trainin

You may have seen 3 parents and 6 children out and about in yellow "high vis" vests after school. Years 5 and 6 are working towards gaining their Cycling Awareness Certificate. I would like to say a special thank you to Tina Spence and Lindsey Lightowler for joining me in teaching the children these very important skills. In addition, thanks to all around the Scott Hill area of Bainbridge for "giving way" to us during our practising!

Other news includes the continuation of the School's hugely popular Climbing Club under the watchful eye of Mr Moore.

Ann Hewitt is very kindly continuing her lunchtime Knitting Club. We are very grateful to her (I am particularly, as my efforts to try and teach our elder daughter to knit were a little fruitless!) and the rabbits they produced as their first finished item were a joy to see. Now they have moved on to a purse, and my daughter has joyfully told me, “And then I’m learning to purl!”

Prunings

A personal take on Plants, Propagating and other related rural ramblings.

October really has been a bonus. We seem to have been blessed with higher temperatures than average and less rain. I suppose it makes up for the poor summer. I now have lots of jars of sloes on the dairy shelves, accompanied by sugar and gin of course, and they are just beginning to colour. With luck, if I shake them regularly they'll be ready for Christmas.

In mid-October we visited Cragside at Rothbury – The Armstrong house. The drive through the grounds was spectacular and the colours were magnificent. Apparently Armstrong planted around 5 million trees many of which have been there since the 1870s. The stature of some of the pines is awesome and the rhododendrons are budding up for the spring. The best moment was having to stop and wait for a red squirrel which was jumping about in the roadway. The trees have coloured up quickly this year: I read that the dry spell has speeded them up. This means lots of leaves, and for me it means compost. Monday's lawn mowings were very leafy, and as we shall probably have another cut it will be similar. In theory the mixture should rot down well due to the nitrogen in the grass. There is a very interesting article in Gardening Which suggesting otherwise. In tests they carried out with last year's leaves the best compost was produced from shredded leaves with no additives. (natural or otherwise) They were stored in black bags after shredding and kept damp. The bags were vented to permit excess moisture to escape, and the product was good enough to use in seed and potting mixes after 12 months. Of course there were quite a few provisos in the conclusions. They need to be shredded and damp; some leaves such as sycamore will take longer; evergreens and pine needles will take much longer and tend to make the leaf-mould acidic, and of course anything diseased (blackspot for example) needs to be avoided. The only additive that actually improved the process in the tests was Biotal Compost Maker, but apparently this product has been reformulated and the new product may not produce the same result.

I've been moving the tender plants inside and cutting them back where appropriate. The geraniums will provide stock for cuttings and I'll start to take some soon. I've also put some of the "sow-cold" seeds into the polytunnel ready for them to take off when the light improves in the spring. The catalogue from Plant World has arrived – wonderful. If you haven't seen one do have a look at the web-site: www.plant-world-seeds.com. I have never been disappointed in my purchases from this one. Talking of purchases, there is still plenty of time for spring bulbs. This year I've bought Tête a Tête to plant in the grass, usually for around £1.50 per 10. On Thirsk market I found some at £7.50 per 100! I look forward to a blaze of colour.

Good luck! And whatever you grow, take time to enjoy it.

Rose Rambler

Firstly we would like to thank all those who came along to our fashion show on 23rd September at the Fountain Hotel. Thank you to the Fountain for allowing us to hold the event on their premises. Without your support this event would not have been a huge success. We raised £266.50 in total which will be spent on resources for the children who attend Dalesplay.

Our next event taking place is the Halloween Walk on Saturday 31st October. We will leave Dalesplay at 6pm in fancy dress and walk around the town picking some treats up as we go. We will then return to Dalesplay where you can bring along your carved pumpkin to enter in a competition and bob for some apples. We will also have some warm refreshments available to purchase. This event is open to everyone including visitors to the dales. It is a free event with a small charge for the optional refreshments.

Last month we introduced two after school clubs for the children in the dales. These have been a huge success with 20 children attending both the Monday Art club and Wednesday Cookery club. Due to such a demand we are now running a second cookery club on a Tuesday night with 12 children attending to cope with the overflow. If anyone is interested in joining please contact Dalesplay 667789. Both clubs cost £1 per child to cover costs.

We have been looking at the Hindu festival Diwali and learning all about how they celebrate their new year. The children have listened to stories about the festival and decorated some table decorations. All the children have enjoyed participating in the activities especially those involving glitter. The children have also been on a nature walk to collect some leaves and conkers to make some pictures. It has helped them develop their knowledge of their surrounding environment.

Next month the children will be making a guy to take down to the community bonfire. They will be looking at Bonfire night in a little more detail and getting ready for the Christmas activities.

Taking Care of our Parishes with LEADER or email rima.berry@ydmtd.org

Numbers of local Parish and Community caretakers in the Yorkshire Dales are set to rise as rural development programme LEADER lends its support.

A recent decision by the Yorkshire Dales Local Action Group, who administer the LEADER funding, encourages the creation of more Parish or Community caretaker initiatives. The aim is to promote greater community-led action in rural areas.

A budget has been approved to fund such initiatives, covering project costs of between £2,000 and £5,000. Projects will be assessed on the strength of how they meet the objectives under the LEADER Call for Projects 2009 activity “Caring for the Parish”. Collaborative projects involving more than one parish area are encouraged.

Parish or community caretakers are often self employed individuals contracted to deliver a range of services set out by the local community within a defined parish boundary. Tasks can involve maintaining verges, car parks, footpaths, signs and areas of open space. The Local Action Group is particularly keen to see environmental and heritage activities included as part of a caretaker role.

LEADER is a community-led programme supporting rural projects which improve the quality of life and prosperity in local areas. LEADER cannot fund work that is already happening or the cost of equipment. It can fund the development of an existing project where there is an added environmental or heritage aspect. The first deadline date for Parish Caretaker projects is: December 1st 2009. There is a further and final deadline on October 1st 2010.

For more information about the LEADER Programme please contact the Dales LEADER Co-ordinator Rima Berry on 015242 51002

From Dogs to Avon

Her name is Karen Winspear, farmer's daughter and farmer's wife, raising two children aged 7 and 8 in Hawes. While they were younger she combined her love of dogs with being a mum and welcomed dogs, whose mums and dads were on holiday, into her house. As one lady said while sitting round the pool, it made her pina colada taste even better knowing her dog was in a home environment.

When Karen first started it was 'come one, come all' but now she's narrowed down her open house policy and specifies 'only well-behaved dogs welcome' as her children are behaving badly enough!

She is also interested in looking and feeling good, so when she realised that Avon was a well-established company providing products at affordable prices, she researched and decided to become a representative, hoping to keep up the tradition of carrying samples, calling at people's houses and places of work, hopefully having a good chat while providing products to see and touch— just like the Rington's man who still, in the old fashioned way, comes to you.

When Karen was growing up in Walden, Milners of Leyburn used to come at Christmas with a suitcase full of exciting things for her mum to buy. As she says, "I can still remember him coming; it was quite an occasion. We also had Mr Sadler from Thoraby with grocery and Mr Haw from Aysgarth with clothes... the good old days!"

And she says, "If you see me dressed up, I've got my Avon hat on, and if I'm in my jeans I'm the dog lady!" If you want to call Karen about either: 667996

NSPCC Success

We had a wonderful turnout from 2 year olds to 90 year olds on a warm sunny October afternoon. Members of the Carperby, Redmire and Castle Bolton branch of the NSPCC were able to send off £550 to aid work in North Yorkshire. Many thanks to all who gave their time and gifts and those who came to support the event.

Sing Hallelujah

The BBC is helping to celebrate the 250th anniversary of the death of Handel by inviting as many people as possible to sing the Hallelujah Chorus between now and December.

To give us all the chance to do it, the Swale Singers and the Aysgarth Singers are to perform the Messiah in Aysgarth Church at 7.00pm on Saturday, 19th December. All the audience will be provided with the words of the Hallelujah Chorus, and after a short run through, they will be able to join in and sing with the choirs. The BBC have asked for a recording of the performance to be sent to them. Richard Brickstock will conduct, with Greg Smith at the organ, and Colin Pearson (who brought the house down the last time he played for the Messiah in Gunnerside) will be the solo trumpeter.

Tickets for this special concert, priced at £6, are available from Hawes Post Office, 667201, from Sylvia Crookes; 650525 or from Mary Rose Kearney; 650880.

Who knows – once you have tried singing one chorus, you might decide to join one of the choirs yourself! It's a very sociable way of keeping young and fit (in the lungs if not in the legs).

Front Covers

Would you like to be famous for a month? Although we have several artists who provide us with an excellent supply of front covers, and children who occasionally send in pictures, we would like to invite the more mature readers to take up pen or pencil and provide us with clear, sharp sketches that could be considered for use.

They can be emailed or dropped off at one of the contact points around the area

Last month's picture has caused us some bother! We thought at first the seventies, then a reader emailed suggesting the mid-fifties and now we think it could be taken in the sixties. Does no-one recognise anybody?

As part of our centenary year celebrations we have completed our 'Changing the World' badge that culminated in a book sale on September 29th, with all the money raised (£120) being given to International Book Aid. Thank you to all who supported the sale; the book quiz was won by Marian Alderson.

With our 'Out and About' badge we have been out following a route around Hawes and been looking at different types of maps.

Best Foot Forward

Walking on Seats. I was very surprised to see two people up on the tops at the north-west corner of our area; it is usually empty, so I don't know why I'm telling you this, except that for just a short scramble you can reach what has become my favourite viewpoint (until I'm somewhere else next time!)

Start at the very top of the road from Keld to Nateby over Birkdale and simply make your way south-west to the high ground; you might spot a tractor track to help. After only three quarters of a mile you are there! High Pike Hill. Admittedly it was a rare sunny late summer day, and the view was superb: Nine Standards to the north, then along the wide Eden Valley bordered by the north Pennines with Great Dun Fell's 'golf ball' communication shining white; all the Lakeland Fells were there and then closer across Mallerstang Wild Boar Fell's Nab stabbed the sky. Even Whernside, the highest Yorkshire peak, looked pointed; it is because it's seen from the right angle. Turning further anticlockwise all the Yorkshire Dales tops were clear to see.

If you are only there for the view you may now return to the road. For a high level, open walk you must go on! It is simply south, sticking to the highest ground, but don't expect any guidance from walls or fences; this is truly open country. You won't get lost but might not find the easiest or driest route (although this isn't very boggy and has stretches over small flat stones.)

After a couple of miles you are at the first seat. High Seat is one of the highest tops in the dales. Dropping down a little to Steddle Mouth you will soon climb again to the splendidly named Gregory Chapel, which is an insignificant pile of stones. However the view down left to the wide Little Sled

Dale is lovely, but hasten on to the next seat! High Seat stands at a point where the long boundary you've been following (though you wouldn't know it) takes a sharp turn and there is a fence. It has wound its way for three miles right across from Great Shunner. That's a nice boggy tramp if you fancy it!

I wasn't looking forward to the next part. A few years ago it was all 'ploughed' with shallow grips to help in heather regeneration and looked a right mess. However, it's coming on nicely. The shallow troughs tend to run horizontally so the water is held and doesn't run off. Mosses, bilberry, some heather and huge swathes of bog asphodel have appeared and a helpful track winds its way along.

From here you may descend to Cotterdale but I prefer to keep on the tops to Ure Head and Bubble Hill eventually picking up a fence leading to Cotter End and the tarn. It used to be dreadful going down the muddy Lady Ann's Way, but (as reported in the Newsletter) a grand job has been done. Sad to say, although this is now restricted to walkers, cyclists and horse-riders, there were half a dozen motor bikes coming down from the beautifully sited lime kiln at the top. I showed my disapproval.

(By the way, 'Seat' or 'Sett' means summer pasture or grazing area. Try thinking how many you can name! The area is full of them!)

Hawes Community Bonfire and Fireworks

A bonfire and fireworks display will be held on the Community Field on Thursday November 5th from 6.30pm.

Donations on the gate.

Fuel Company Goes Green Fingered

Wetherby-based fuel business Bayford & Co. Ltd has joined forces with Yorkshire Dales Millennium Trust to turn donations from their eco-friendly customers into Yorkshire woodlands.

Bayford's 'Plant a Tree' scheme offers customers the opportunity to make a donation towards tree planting in a bid to offset their carbon emissions. The scheme has proved so popular that Bayford has just donated £5,200 to Yorkshire Dales Millennium Trust, which will be used to plant around 1000 trees.

Yorkshire Dales Millennium Trust is delighted with Bayford's support, and hope that other Yorkshire companies will follow their example. Donations are much-needed to maintain the Trust's work - including conservation programmes like tree planting and hay meadow restoration.

Stone Donation for Three Peaks Project

Walkers will benefit from the first donation of materials to the new Three Peaks Project launched earlier this year by the National Park

The project aims to involve charities, organisations and individuals in helping to maintain and conserve the network of paths crossing the Ingleborough, Pen-y-ghent and Whernside area, which has to cope with about 250,000 visitors a year. The high number of walkers means the paths need maintenance more frequently than many others in the National Park - and it can be very costly.

One way in which local businesses can help is to make donations in kind - and that's exactly what building materials giant Lafarge has done by supplying and delivering 120 tonnes of gritstone. It has been used to resurface part of a footpath leading from Clapham to Ingleborough.

The stone was flown by helicopter up to the section between Gaping Gill and Little Ingleborough and has been compacted to form a good walking surface on this popular path. Other work will include a section of reclaimed flagstones,

The latest project aims to create a sustainable source of both practical and financial support that will help protect and enhance the area and the rights of way network into the future. Since its launch, many of the charities that regularly use the Three Peaks for sponsored events have volunteered to donate money towards the upkeep of the area.

Askrigg Friendly Society

The bicentenary year is coming to an end and the final celebration will be on the evening of Saturday December 5th at the Kings Arms Hotel with the unveiling of a bicentennial oil painting created from the group photograph taken after Church Parade in June.

The ceremony will take place before the traditional meal and will involve special guest Beryl Percival and honorary member Geoffrey Baber who also represents HPB, the Society's partner in the creation of the painting. All members will be contacted by their usual management committee member to see if they are attending the evening. Also it is now possible to order prints of the group photograph taken in June. This could be in black and white as well as colour and will cost £7.50 for the larger A3 size and £5 for the smaller A4 size, all printed on matt photo-card.

Contact the secretary, Bob Deans by e-mail at robbideans@yahoo.co.uk or by telephone: 650182.
