But is it progress? You can imagine the old priest 500 years ago asking that question when other people in the area apart from him began to read and even saw a book; or more recently when the town crier, the main source of news-giving, found that broadsheets and the like were circulating; and how did newspapers respond in the 1920s when the 'wireless' was invented?

Now it's TV and the Web; but is it progress? Of course, in many ways ,YES. There is no waiting now. There's hardly anyone who can say they 'don't know' or 'haven't heard'. Yet despite all this (and the once-predicted but not achieved paperless society) we still 'don't know', 'can't remember', 'haven't been told', or 'we've forgotten' or 'overlooked the matter'!

The question is: is there overload?

The newspaper girl or boy can hardly get it through the letter box, especially at weekends; the post multiplies with uninvited bumf; even the charities you might regularly support still send their appeals. Organisations as diverse as the W.I., County and District Councils, insurance companies and churches inundate us with surveys, reports, questionnaires and advertising. Numerous emails, with easily added attachments, sent to all and sundry, also soon fill our inboxes, and if you're not keen on reading for a long time on the screen, then page after page gets printed off; then what?

Are we better for it? Do we ignore more? Delete more? Throw more away?

There is one thing for sure; this Newsletter won't be much bigger – our collating tables won't cope!

Is it time for us all to be more succinct again, without being too curt, blunt, disrespectful or resorting always to the modern shrthnd of txtng? The ease and volume of communication doesn't automatically mean better; face to face communication could well be suffering. So putting our typing where our mouth is, we've kept this editorial shorter this month!

Thanks Received

Our treasurer has received a thank you letter from 'Smile UK', the charity recommended by Eion Horne, the £20 winner of our July competition.

Bainbridge and District Motor Club Rally

The Nat Hutchinson Rally was set off from Askrigg Primary School by Dave Teasdale and Tom Fawcett. Before we could set on our way two tasks were to be completed; the first one was to drive into a make-shift garage without hitting any cones or the bin in front of you, and the other task was to run with a lawn mower as fast as you could to see how many lengths of grass you could cut in 40 seconds!!

Once we set off we went through Askrigg, across Worton Bottoms past Semerwater before going over the ford at Gayle, then through Appersett, Hardraw and Sedbusk before making our way over to Swaledale, through Satron then turning right over the gated road where a third task was to be completed before heading back towards Askrigg moor.

The final rally was a brilliant one and enjoyed by all. Thank you to Dave and Tom for organising the event.

We have an Answer!

Remember the mystery object submitted to us in the August Newsletter? Well we thought no-one had any idea; however, at last we are grateful to Mary Mudd from Cubeck who says she has one similar.

It is brass and belonged to her father; it is a horse brass fitted to a bridle and hung down the forehead.

Many thanks! We hoped someone might solve the problem.

The 'Other' Cheese Shop.

It's called The Little Cheese shop and it is situated in Hawes next to Cockett's Hotel. I went along to the Unit on the Industrial estate to talk to Iona Hill who opened the cheese shop on 11th August this year. The cheese is made in the Unit and I was given a guided tour of the process, except that I had to use my imagination because on this particular day, cheese wasn't in production. But three times a week goat's, sheep's and cow's milk cheeses are coming off the production line under the name of Ribblesdale Cheese. (Ribblesdalecheese.wordpress.com)

The story that unfolded was that Iona's uncle started making cheese after redundancy in 1978 at Ashes farm, breeding goats up to a herd of 100. He built up a following of regional and national customers until he died in 2006. Iona, who as a qualified accountant was on her way to Dubai to take up lecturing and consultancy work, never left, but instead took up cheese making. She and her staff now make 20-25 tons per year. Nothing compared to other producers, she admits but this is an artisan hand-made product.

The Specialist Cheese-makers Ass'n have been very helpful to Iona and are always to hand with advice. Her customers are as far-flung as the Falklands, Japan and Canada, (Through wholesale suppliers) Local champions of regional foods; supermarket Booths are also stocking her cheeses. Iona employs four people either at the unit or shop and since she opened, trade has been brisk. As well as cheese, the shop sells butter and milk and there are plans to extend the range.

All of which is good news for Hawes and Wensleydale, which is becoming quite a 'foodie' place with quite a number of locally produced 'goodies' on offer.

Welcome to Iona and her business and may it succeed .

Operation Christmas Child

This is the 20th year of Operation Christmas Child that brings joy and hope to many of the world's neediest children. So far of 80 million children have received shoe boxes and they are given out regardless of the child's background or beliefs. For children caught up in conflicts, natural disasters, extreme poverty or disease to receive a box filled with gifts makes a huge difference.

Leaflets of details of what to include in your box are available from Hawes Post Office and the Library Cover the medium sized shoe box in Christmas paper, lid separately, and enclose a cheque for £2.50 payable to Samaritan's Purse (or £2.50 in cash) towards transport. You can also donate on line (details in leaflet) and do please use Gift Aid if you can. Boxes should be handed in to the Post Office or Library by Friday November 12th.

Enjoy filling boxes with your friends, family, school or group, knowing that they will be really treasured by the children, and that for many they will be only gift they receive this Christmas.

Reducing falls amongst elderly

Up to one in three over 65-year-olds in England suffer a fall each year and falls are a major cause of disability and the leading cause of mortality resulting from injury in older people. Each year, 35% of over 65s experience one or more falls. About 45% of people aged over 80 who live in the community fall each year, with 10-25% of such falls resulting in serious injury.

North Yorkshire and York Community and Mental Health Services manage a Falls Prevention Service which raises awareness of potential risks that may lead to a fall.

10 steps to reducing falls

Advice for people over 65:

- *Check that slippers/shoes fit properly.
- *Have sight and ears checked each year
- *Ask doctors to review their medication
- *Use non slip mats in the bath or shower
- *Keep the home clutter free
- *Make sure the home is well lit
- *Check the rubber on the bottom of a walking stick for wear
- *Keep warm and keep the home warm
- *Remove loose rugs/mats in the home
- *Try and stay active.

Want to Sing?

The present choir meets once a month, on the last Wednesday, between 6.00 pm and 7.00 pm at St Margaret's Church. We welcome anyone who may want to come along and sing, even if they don't want to be a regular member of the choir. We are also aware that any choir can flourish when it has someone to guide them. If you have always wanted to lead a church choir whose responsibility it is to lead the worship, then please contact Ann as soon as possible.

Likewise, we are looking for someone who is able to join our list of organists at St Oswald's Church in Askrigg. If you know how to play the church organ and would be interested in playing on occasions, please contact Ann.

Moving On

Dr Arblaster is leaving the practice at the end of this year. He will be returning to Perthshire, where he and his wife have family connections. We wish him every success with his future career. ### New Bridge for Wensleydale

Those of you travelling along the road between Askrigg and Carperby may have noticed a new addition to the landscape at Haw Bank, Woodhall. A dry stone arch bridge has been constructed over Eller Beck, having first made a guest appearance at this year's Festival of Food and Drink in Leyburn.

Members of the Otley and Yorkshire Dales branch of the Dry Stone Walling Association built the arched bridge especially for the event and, once the festivities were over, they approached me with a view to relocating the bridge to a suitable location within the National Park. I suggested the Local Nature Reserve site at Haw Bank (aka Bungalow Town to many locals!) because the original clapper bridge was frequently submerged during heavy rain, which made it difficult to use, and caused river water to back up and flood the car park.

This is an excellent example of the traditional skill of dry stone wall construction being used for a long-standing practical purpose. It was built using reclaimed sandstone and newly-quarried Wensleydale limestone; it will enhance what is already a beautiful Dales' landscape. The volunteers had never built a dry stone bridge before this year so there was much to learn – but they have worked extremely well together to leave a lasting result in the Dale.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank John Hesgrave, the chairman of the Dry Stone Walling Association and Project Manager, along with the 14 Association volunteers, who gave their time and contributed the equivalent of 90 man-days. Grateful thanks are also extended to Dr. Kristen Whalley, chairman of the Wensleydale branch of the Campaign to Protect Rural England (CPRE), who very kindly funded the project.

The construction work took place over two weeks in August and was filmed by Shiver Productions for the new ITV series 'The Dales', which will be screened next year.

Please contact us if you have any conservation ideas, wildlife enhancement projects or suggestions to improve access about which you would like practical help or advice.

Best Foot Forward

You don't have to follow a recognised walk— Coast to Coast, Wolds Way etc. When it is too cold or wet to go out (unless you are completely uncontainable), spread out the maps across the floor and plan your own long distant walk.

This is my "East of the Pennine Way", planned and walked some time ago; this is the brief outline. It starts in Derbyshire, like the Pennine Way, but at Winster (because I'd heard of an ancient track starting there and going north!) and climbs to follow the famous gritstone edges of the Dark Peak to Hathersage. A rough day follows, over wild, open heather moorland to the east of the Derwent reservoirs to Dunford Bridge at the eastern end of the once famous, now closed, Woodhead railway tunnel.

A trudge to Holme Moss TV masts and beyond, leads to the A635 and the demolished 'Isle of Skye' inn, pulled down at reservoir-building time. Alfred J. Brown writing in the 1940s was more troubled by the thought of the water getting into the beer than vice-versa! Plod on down Wessenden to Tunnel End at Marsden on the Huddersfield Narrow Canal, from where paths lead to a crossing of the M62 via a tunnel by Scammonden Dam and thence to Ripponden.

Way-finding gets trickier from here; in fact the three of us were lost even before getting out of the big garden of the B and B! This is typical South Pennine landscape: deep valleys, blackened farm houses, conduits to the reservoirs and old packhorse and Limers' ways, plus the rather over-rated Bronte Waterfall on the way to Haworth. Haworth YHA was gaunt and a touch forbidding; it might be better now (It is still open).

The route goes near Oakworth to a lovely little hamlet of Newsholme with its Dean, to cross the Aire valley at Steeton and over to Addingham in Wharfedale where a trip up Beamsley Beacon really has to be made.

Bolton Park on the opposite bank to Bolton Abbey is a good place for the night before climbing up the Valley of Desolation to the gritstones of Simon's Seat and to Stump Cross Caverns (and a good café!). It is then Greenhow Hill; I'm not keen on it! This hill-top village of old lead mines and cottages is grim. I really admire the few people I know who grew up or spent some time here; they must be tough. So it is good to drop steeply down to Pateley Bridge for the next night.

From Pateley it is up Nidderdale to Howe Stean Gorge (Yorkshire's Little Switzerland) and from Stean village back over to Kettlewell; this is a lonely, empty crossing and it's a bit of a shock to arrive in the busy village.

My East of the Pennine Way now climbs Great Whernside and makes for Horsehouse in Coverdale, but not directly down the long ridge. It follows the ancient Tor Dyke to the shoulder of Buckden Pike and the top end of Walden and then climbs back over to Horsehouse.

You will be more familiar with it now— more or less due north to West Scrafton, Melmerby Moor and the gallops, Bolton Hall, Preston then directly over by disused pits, shafts, smelters and chimney to Swaledale and Grinton.

This would be a reasonable end point but the walk has a final two-day flourish: all along the tops between Wensleydale and Swaledale to Lovely Seat and Keld. A final long arc via East Stonesdale (no path), over to Arkengarthdale; Whaw, Booze and to Reeth, my end point. It is 175 miles and full of variety. A.S.W.

Carperby's New Sports' Pavilion

Carperby's new Sports' Pavilion came a step closer to realisation last month with the completion of the access road to the playing fields and children's playground. Farmer Alistair Dinsdale has donated the land for the road and, with a grant from the Big Lottery, local contractors and volunteers have laid a new path and completed a 60 metre dry stone wall. Phase two will be the construction of a water-tight shell, ready for fitting out and the connection of services. This part of the project will be undertaken by local builder Scott Stephenson and his team, and the official foundation stone ceremony will take place on Friday October 22nd when William Hague MP will be present.

A new fund raising programme begins this month with the return of the popular Big Breakfast event to be held in the Village Institute on Saturday 2nd October between 8am and 1pm. Full breakfasts as well as bacon & sausage butties, tea and toast will be served. Come along for a good feed. Details can be obtained from Hazel Oliver on 663179.

This will be followed later in the month by another of the concerts that have proved so popular. Folk/rock stars Little Johnny England will be playing at The Village Institute on Saturday 23rd October. To quote from The Times “Little Johnny England are a unique outfit. Five of the most gifted musicians on the folk/ rock circuit, they have pooled their collective talents and experience to come up with a unique and rousing ensemble. They bring an energy and dynamic to their live work not often seen – “they put the rock back into folk rock”! As individuals they have it covered. Gareth Turner takes melodeons and vocals, PJ Wright, guitars and vocals; Guy Fletcher, fiddle and vocals; Hugh Bunker, bass and vocals; and Mark Stevens, drums and vocals. In the last 10 years Little Johnny England have aimed to take traditional and contemporary folk music to a wider audience and they’ve attracted significant praise from the mainstream National press along the way.” So there you have it – come along and have your DNA re-arranged! Tickets are £10 in advance or £12 on the door. More details can be obtained by calling 663808.

Prunings

A personal take on Plants, Propagating and other related rural ramblings.

*The Breezy call of incense breathing morn,
The swallows twittering from the straw
built shed,*

In late August our graceful tiny visitors gathering in preparation for their long flight always remind me of this line from Gray's Elegy. This year there were dozens on the wires even as late as the second week of September and amazingly, some were still calling to be fed. I suppose they must have been part of what an old friend used to call "The efter cletch," and I fear that many will struggle to survive. Of course, suddenly, as always, they have completely disappeared and the garden is quieter. Today, (the 21st) a robin hopped around on the cotoneaster testing the berries. He didn't stay long so perhaps he doesn't consider them ready.

Autumn strides on, and the Aralia already has some flame red leaves even though it is only just fully in flower, the horsechestnuts too are turning golden, but this year there seems to be a very poor conker crop. I shall go further afield to find some. My husband found a snippet of information last year about their capacity to deter spiders. We hung them in one or two of the places where we are usually plagued with cobwebs, and it works!

It still feels too warm to start on the Autumn jobs, but they are many and must be tackled. I've begun collecting the bulbs. More Tête à Tête and Rip van Winkle as they did so well in tubs and planters. Geraniums and Pelargoniums will have to move inside and I must pot up the best ones for next year's cuttings. Most of the smaller pots will have to go into the polytunnel and everything remotely tender will be transported to the greenhouse. I am impressed with how well the pelargonium cuttings I brought from London last Autumn have done and I must make sure I have plenty of healthy ones for the spring. As they do not drop their leaves like the fuchsias they need to be kept in the best light conditions.

Following last year's debacle with the rabbits we have almost completed some more rabbit proof fencing and thus we will hopefully have somewhere secure for the trees and shrubs. I feel sorry for any creature at risk of starvation when we have heavy and persistent snow, but I don't plan to offer them my better specimens.

A good clean up of the benching in the greenhouse is still not complete but it is important to do it to reduce the incidence of common diseases. There will be lots of odd bits and weak plants to get rid of. They have had their chance and space is precious: all this year's potted up cuttings need a home. I have some tiny pansy plugs on the patio. They are for outside of course, but I think they might benefit from potting on and some kinder conditions for a week or two. There were still Peacocks and a Red Admiral on the Buddleia today. Not bad for late September.

Good luck! And whatever you grow, take time to enjoy it.

Keeping Drivers on Track

Boulders, fencing and landscaping are being used to help 'green lane' drivers to stay on track on the Stake road from Kidstones near Cray north west to Stalling Busk. Habitats have been damaged by motor vehicle drivers who have chosen to leave the well-surfaced route and trespass on to private land on each side.

Now the National Park has carried out work to stop further damage occurring.

Bainbridge School News

If You Go Down to the Woods Today...!

.. and on a sunny Tuesday in September Class Two of Bainbridge School did just that. We had been invited to a Discovery Day at Hackfall Woods and luckily a day of sunshine and light winds – rather than the driving rain of the previous few days - greeted us in the morning. After a spot of lunch in Grewelthorpe School's lovely garden room – thank you Grewelthorpe - we headed off to the woods.

We were met by Katherine who would lead us through the magical world of Hackfall Woods. To make sure we could find our way back, or even follow our journey with our families in the future, we were given a story stick. As we moved through the woods we attached to it reminders of where we were. This might be a leaf from a tree, an acorn or a piece of bark. We passed ancient trees, spectacular mushrooms, found berries, nuts and leaves galore and came across ruins, forty foot waterfalls and mysterious grottos.

We finally arrived at Fountain Pond so named because every 12 minutes a 50 foot fountain erupts out of the island in the centre – that surprised us! The main reason for a visit to the pond though was to see what lived below the surface. Equipped with nets, washing up bowls and separating dishes we scooped out mayfly, damselfly and dragonfly nymphs. We found amazing water boatmen and pond skaters. There were frogs, newts, snails and a whole host of other pond dwelling creatures. Eventually the fun had to end and after packing all the kit away we wended our way back through the woods, via the giant's ear, to the waiting bus and made our way home.

Everyone agreed it had been both a great fun day out and an amazing learning experience, a return visit is already been talked about.

New year, new Reception Class!

This term we've welcomed 5 children – Arthur, Bethany, Evie, Georgina and Ella into Reception. Having all attended Bainbridge Nursery, It's lovely to see them settling so quickly and their fresh faced enthusiasm!

Success at Askrigg Produce Show!

The school garden is still flourishing, with enough potatoes to feed the whole school! Over the summer it was ably attended by Callum Spence, and I know that many children took the opportunity to harvest salad leaves, carrots, peas, courgettes and beautiful sweet peas. The children's efforts were rewarded with 2nd Prizes for both their potatoes and peas at the Askrigg Produce Show!

Cycling Awareness

As I write, the Year 4's are participating in a Level 1 Cycling Awareness Class. This is a 2 hour playground based course which will prepare them for the full blown Cycling Awareness Course in Year 5.

Sustainable Schools' Pilot

Bainbridge is participating in a pilot initiative which encourages the children to investigate ways of making their school and environment "green". I gather a large doll's house will be coming into school to help facilitate this and there will be linked visits, including Gayle Mill and to see wind turbines up close!

The Sound of Music!

If you visit school on a Friday afternoon over the coming year, you will be greeted by a classroom of violins! Thanks to a North Yorkshire County Music Service initiative, all the children in Years 4 – 6 have been provided with a brand new violin together with weekly group lessons. Mr Moore is also learning so it will be interesting to see who makes the most progress – him or the children! (My money is on the children!) The children are very enthusiastic and I can truthfully say that the sounds coming out of our own house are surprisingly tuneful for such a new student of a stringed instrument.... my grateful thanks to Mrs Hallows!

Trains Go Both Ways

Most passengers on Wensleydale Railway excursions are travelling up the dale but here is a day out in the opposite direction!

On THURSDAY NOVEMBER 4th there will be an excursion from Hawes to York. Last year's trip was on a Saturday but we have been asked to arrange it for a Thursday this year. The price per person for return travel is £12.50 (£10 from Crakehall or Bedale), as follows::

Coach pick up and transfer from Hawes, Bainbridge, Askrigg, Carperby, Preston Lane End, Redmire, Leyburn, Crakehall and Bedale to Northallerton station and return.. Grand Central train journey from Northallerton to York and return..

The coach will depart Hawes at 8.30am, giving 7½ hours in York and returning to Hawes by 8.45pm. Last year some people did not go on this excursion because they thought it might be too long a day. However all those who went agreed that it gave ample time to enjoy being in York, without having to rush around and watch the clock all day. (NB Timings will be confirmed in writing with tickets). As places are limited, please book as soon as possible by phoning Wensleydale Railway on 08454 50 54 74.

Santa Specials: Same prices etc as last year – see www.wensleydale-railway.com.

Hawes Market House

Please note that the Annual General Meeting will be held in the Market House on Friday October 22nd at 7.00pm.

Heavens Above

A famous landmark in the autumn evening sky is the Great Square of Pegasus high in the south right through October. Pegasus was the legendary Flying Horse of ancient Greece ridden by Perseus when he rescued the beautiful princess, Andromeda, from the clutches of a hideous sea monster.

The 4 brightish stars making up the Square form the equine's torso and are fairly easy to pick out as they're in a relatively sparsely populated part of the sky.

Weather permitting there's a good chance of spotting a comet this month. Comet Hartley should just be visible to the naked-eye but a pair of binoculars will guarantee a better view. Look for it during the first week of October as it tracks just below the distinct 'W' of Cassiopeia, almost overhead at this time of the year. Your best chance of seeing it, however, is on October 8th as it passes close to the lovely double star cluster known as The Sword Handle roughly halfway between the eastern edge of Cassiopeia and the bright star Mirphak in the constellation of Perseus. The comet will look like a fuzzy star and with any luck should show a tail of some kind.

Don't forget to have a glance at Jupiter this month as it's at its brightest for many years dominating the southern sky just below the Great Square. You might glimpse a shooting star a couple of nights either side of October 22nd when the annual Orionids meteor shower reaches its peak. Unfortunately this year bright moonlight interferes with the view. Have clear skies!

Facelift for popular footpath

Wheelchair users and walkers with limited mobility will soon be able to enjoy new views of Upper Wharfedale.

A level, riverside path between Buckden and Hubberholme is being given a facelift by the National Park Authority and the National Trust.

The improvements will make it accessible to wheelchair users and others with limited mobility and it will enable people to get nearly all the way to Hubberholme before having to get on to the narrow road.

Film-making in Full Swing

The making of a new film of Emily Bronte's old story 'Wuthering Heights' is in full swing at the top end of the Dales. A remote old building at the high end of Swaledale is in use, and in the Bruntacres Business area in Hawes there is an array of trucks for make-up, food and costumes at the headquarters.

Apparently Hollywood is getting tired of Jane Austen and is latching on to the Brontes' more rugged stories and rough moorland settings! This latest film, directed by Andrea Arnold and due to come out next year, is to feature younger actors than have been used in the past: 'dancing street urchin' Nichola Burley and Kaya Scoledario (Clash of the Titans) playing 'Cathy'. Earlier discussions were held with the Yorkshire Romany community in the search for others. We can't find out from our web-surfing who will be playing 'Heathcliff' but one or two locals have been co-opted as extras.

It seems to us that it will be different, robust and something really to look forward to!

S.H. and A.S.W.

Aysgarth Fete Success

August bank holiday Monday saw fine, sunny weather for Aysgarth fete which raised £2700 for the village institute. The green was crowded as people flocked to the various stalls; adults to the white elephant, tombola and bookstall, children to the bouncy castle, football and skittles. A barbeque and quoits finished off a super day. The organisers would like to thank all those who helped before and during the day and also the prize donors for the raffle.

Please be Careful

Whenever you're using a public computer (like in Internet cafes or hotels). Check the back of the PC and see if the device shown is there; if so, do not use it.

New storing device (also known as a key logger) fits at the end of the keyboard cable connecting to the PC specialized to save all typed keys in it. Mostly could be used in net cafes, exhibitions, hotels and airports therefore be careful especially people who use the internet in these places to enter their bank accounts online or any other important sites.

After you enter the bank account and leave the PC it will be easy to open your account again as all what you have typed has been saved in the device. Therefore, you should check the PC for any suspicious piece behind it before using the net in public places for important sites.

West Burton School News

A very warm welcome back to all staff and pupils and especially to our new Reception children Elysa, Jessica, Bertie, Joe Henry, Luke and Ryan who have already settled in well to school life.

We have had a busy autumn term so far with Years 5 and 6 visiting Crucial Crew to learn about our emergency services and more. Also the whole school enjoyed a visit to St Andrew's Church for the Harvest Festival celebrations followed by a walk across the fields back to school. Mrs Eastwood is now taking the junior children into the nearby field for Forest Schools. Children love to be outdoors and they will be making nettle soup!

Afterschool clubs this term will include Chess Club, Computer Keyboard Club, Gardening Club, Multisports and also a new Computer Club. Many thanks as always to our volunteers for making these clubs possible.

Plans are well underway for this year's School Council Fundraiser which will be a Christmas Fair. It will be the perfect opportunity for you to stock up on all your Christmas presents! With Body Shop, Phoenix Cards, a Jewellery stall, Pampered Chef and of course a cake stall, there will be something for even the most hard to please relative. Please come along and give your support on Wednesday the 17th November at the school, starting at 7 o'clock.

Recovering from a catastrophe!

Recently I have had to deal with a number of computers where they would no longer start up because the hard disk itself inside the computer had become physically damaged. So what can you do to protect yourself from potential problems like this?

First a bit of an explanation - there is a lot of confusion over computers and how much memory you have. If you imagine that you are a computer then your brain stores information you are thinking about at any given time but after a good night's sleep or a night out on the tiles you may not remember any more. This is like computer memory – it is used while the computer is switched on to hold and process information but as soon as the plug is removed everything is forgotten. This is what computer geeks call RAM (random access memory) and most modern computers now come with 1, 2, 3 or 4 Gigabytes of RAM (usually abbreviated to something like 4Gb).

Now if you need to remember something, generally people will write it down on paper, dictate it to a tape or get the camera or camcorder out to keep a record for future reference. This is where the computer uses a hard disk and modern computers often have anything from 250Gb to 1000Gb hard disks installed.

Unfortunately hard disks contain both electronics and mechanical moving parts. The mechanical parts spin very fast (typically 7200 times a minute) are very high precision working to an accuracy of millionths of a millimetre. If a small fault occurs (such as a worn bearing) the parts can bang together and cause physical damage. At this point it is touch and go as to how much of your data (photos, documents, emails etc.) can be recovered.

So what is the solution? The answer is to keep regular backups of your system – especially important stuff like photos. Nowadays most computers can make DVDs and the blanks are very cheap (typically no more than a £1-£2 depending on the manufacturer) so copying those important photos to a DVD is pretty easy. A very good free program to do this can be downloaded from www.imgburn.com.

The problem is that this does not restore your computer to a replacement hard disk if the worst happens. To do that you ideally also need to occasionally make an image backup of your whole system. For this it is ideal to buy an external hard disk that plugs into a USB socket and then use system imaging software to make a complete copy of your hard disk. That way if the worst happens your whole system can be restored quickly to a new internal hard disk. There is some very good free software to do this from <http://www.paragon-software.com/home/db-express/>. It is a fairly large download and you do have to install and register the software on your computer but it is well worth the effort. Note if you can't afford to buy an external hard disk you can make a set of backup DVDs but it takes quite a long time and depending on your computer might take a lot of disks.

Can you help – broadband speed survey?

Broadband coverage in the Dales is pretty patchy (at best). I would really like to collect together information about where there is a good service, average service, poor service or non-existent service and the speeds. For full details and to help out please visit my website: www.dalescomputerservices.com and follow the link on the home page.

Family History Group

As mentioned last month this October we will mark our 10th Anniversary with an exhibition at Tennants Auction Centre on the theme of 'Those Who Left The Dales'. Some families may have only gone to the next county, but others found their way to some of the most far flung places on the globe.

The enormous response to the appeal for information has resulted in the production of a book containing summaries of over 100 individual submissions. This is the first time that most of these stories have been told publicly and is a unique opportunity to compare first hand accounts of those who left and, most poignantly, those left behind. The books will be on sale at the Exhibition or by ordering in advance.

The Exhibition is open weekdays from 10.00am to 4.00pm and Saturdays, 10.00am to 2.00pm (closed Sundays) from 2nd to 16th October. Admission is free and there is a programme of talks & workshops for which advance booking is advisable. Some are already fully booked but others include:

Friday October 8th, 2.00pm Blair Southerden and Jonathan Kirton on 'Kirton/Kearton emigration from Swaledale to St Vincent, Windward Islands 1764.'

Tuesday October 12th, 11.00am Tony Keates 'Using the internet for research' and at 2.00pm, Ron Spensley, chair of Barnsley Family History Society, will be speaking about migration from Swaledale to South Yorkshire.

Friday, October 15th: popular destinations for the dales migrants. At 11.00am David Pratt will give a presentation on his great grandfather, Christopher Pratt, the famous Bradford furniture manufacturer and community leader, who began life as the son of a Swaledale lead miner. At 2.00pm Dr Duncan Bythell will be speaking on 'Why move to Burnley?'

October 27th, 2.00pm - Fremington Sunday School; David Boulton - Quaker Origins in the Upper Dales

The next regular meeting is on Wednesday, October 27th, at 2.00pm in Fremington Sunday School near Reeth when David Boulton will speak about Quaker Origins in the Upper Dales. To find out more about any of the events or to order a copy of the book, contact Glennys Marriott 663738, email: glennys@bishopdale.demon.co.uk

To apply contact Kate Loughlin on 01748 829100 ext 7035 or econ-dev@richmondshire.gov.uk. The deadline for applications is October 8th

Hawes Amateur Operatic Society

2010 is a very special year for Hawes Amateur Operatic Society (HAOS). It is fifty years ago since the late John Cockett re-formed the society.

As part of the anniversary celebrations we held a Gala Dinner at Simonstone Hall in July which was attended by old and new faces to the society and included an awards ceremony.

The current Management Committee, after much consideration, had to take the tough decision to limit the awards to a period that was both manageable to administer and give everyone young and old a fair choice to choose from. We also had to be confident we could make contact with potential nominees and that we could share copies of programmes so that people had the opportunity to jog their memories, should they wish to.

We had a pleasing number of nominations and, as anticipated, we received nominations in the Excellence Categories that supported the contributions of those who have helped make the Society's legacy as memorable and strong as it is today regardless of the period of time they were active members.

We are pleased to announce the following award winners:-
